CRICKET.

THE STRAITS SETTLEMENTS &amp; HONGKONG.

This interesting trial of strength at England's main pastime between the respective representatives of the Straits Settlements and Hongkong was commenced on the Cricket Ground, a few minutes past 11 o'clock this forenoon, in the presence of a large number of spectators, which gradually became larger as the game progressed. At the last moment it was decided to play twelve-a-side, a rule which, in our opinion, is more honored in the breach than the observance. Winning the toss, the Hongkong captain elected to take first innings, and on a very fair wicket, considering the heavy rains we have been favored with lately, Blair and Coxon assumed the defensive, the Straits' attack being entrusted to Ross, fast overhand with a very taking delivery, and an old Hongkong cricketer, Lieut. F. O. Smith, of the gallant old "Steelbacks," whose batting record over-handers breaking in from the well known in the colony.

Hongkong commenced well, Blair scoring a point of 2's in the first bowler's first over, a nice stroke to short leg, and a pretty drive to long leg, which was smartly fielded. Coxon opened his shoulders to Smith's first ball and drove him to about square leg for 5, following up this with a pretty square for a single, and then Blair cut the last ball of the over—a somewhat expensive one—for a couple. In Ross' second over Coxon gave a very hard chance to Fox in the slips, which was not accepted. In Smith's second over Coxon sent him to leg for 4, and in the following over hit one for 2, and in 3, following this up by cutting Ross' beautiful first to the boundary. Runs were coming too quickly to be pleasant, so a change of bowling was tried, Fox relieving Smith, and Coxon nicely placed his first ball in the slips for a single. A pretty cut to the Pavilion by Blair off Ross was the next interesting feature, but the bowler had his revenge, as with the following ball he broke down Coxon's defence, the first wicket falling with the total at 29, of which the retiring batsman had contributed 19 in his usual dashing style. Coxon's score was made up of one 5, one 4, one 3, one 2, and a single. E. W. Mainstay took the wicket, but his stay was short, as after scoring two he was caught at long-off by G. H. Boyd off Fox. Two wickets for 31 runs. Leach now partnered Blair, and a long stand was made. The play was rather slow until the R.E. "crack" hit Fox to the fence, but in the next over from Ross he had a hit, as he placed the ball in Blair's hands at point; however, the chance was not accepted, and an expensive let-off it proved for the Straits' team. A sharp run here by Blair brought out applause, which was rewarded by some smart work on the part of the wicket-keeper. Run out came after a few over-handers, and was deputed to relieve Ross. Leach showed his appreciation of this change by cutting the new bowler's first delivery into the refreshment tent, and Blair immediately afterwards drove him to mid-on for a couple. The last named was cheered in the next over for a slashing cut off Fox, which, however, only produced a couple of runs, owing to colliding with one of the posts, but the following ball he hit hard to the leg boundary. With 50, Smith returned at his old end, and Leach followed in place of Blair. These changes proved rather expensive, as Blair drove a run resulting from the latter's first over. Blair driving him hard for a couple and cutting him into the refreshment tent. A very smart piece of fielding by Ross, which saved a boundary hit, was recognised by hearty applause. Leach was then missed at long off by Ross—an easy chance—and he acknowledged the favor by a marking Smith to the boundary. In Leach's next over Leach drove him straight to the Pavilion for 6, which would have been 8 had the striker not broken down in one of his legs, which necessitated a change of bowler, and a substitute to run for him. With 70 on the telegraph board Smith hit the ball from Blair at once hit him hard to leg and Leach drove him to the long field for a couple. Leach following to effect the desired separation, gave place to Ross. Blair scored two to leg off the new bowler's third ball and then hit him hard to mid-on for another brace—which would at least have been four had the ball not rebounded back into the ground after striking a post. Leach cut a single to the road, and then Blair cut a single to the road, and then Blair cut a single to the road for three, which brought on Fox. Leach cut the last ball of the over for a single, and then Blair bowled a "midden." Blair nicked a single off Fox, and Leach hit the last ball of the over hard to mid-on, but it was smartly fielded and only a single resulted. Ross bowled another "midden" and Fox followed suit, Blair playing forward to every ball of the over. At this time the bowling was dead on the wicket and run-getting no easy task. Leach broke the monotony by getting Ross to leg for a single, and cut Fox to the Pavilion for 2, Blair following in the next over. This last venture very nearly resulting in a case of run out. A new bowler, Leach, came in, and the first ball bowled by Ross, a regular trimmer, Leach failed to stop, and retired for a really first class innings of 31, which included one 6, two 3's, and three 2's. Three for 96, the last wicket having put on 45 runs. An adjournment was now made for tea, Blair being not out with 42 to his credit.

On resuming at two o'clock Campbell became Blair's associate, and placed the last ball of Ross' over to leg, following this up by nicking Fox for 1, Blair driving the following ball into the harbour. Campbell spotted a "midden" for Ross by placing the last ball of the over to short leg for a single, and immediately after wards nicked Fox to the road for 2. A hit followed on for a couple by Blair off the first bowler was the next not worthy item, and then play ruled slow for a time, until the R.E. man drove Ross straight to the boundary, supplementing this with a hard cut off Fox to the road for three, but the following ball, breaking in from leg, clean bowled Campbell, with the total at 124 for 4 wickets—1st man 9, Lowson then went in and "popped" the first ball he received from Fox to long off, for which a desperately short run was safely got, and he then drove a fast bowler to the trees at the City Hall, but narrowly escaped being caught. Blair hit Fox's next over, Blair nicked Fox for 3, and hit Ross beautifully to leg, for which only a single was scored, but Lowson drove the next ball off the ground for 4. The same batsman then hit Fox into the refreshment tent, and this brought on Smith for the third time, but the Doctor sent him to long-off for two and to the bar-rack fence for three in his first over, the last hit being a "chance," which, however, was not availed of. Blair (last round) took the leather from Ross, his first over produced a single to Lowson and a couple of byes, and Gaganan relieved Smith at the other end, but Lowson drove the last ball of his first over to the fence, and sent the next ball he received from Blair to the road for three. It was now Blair's turn, and he hit the same bowler to leg for 2, and played the remaining balls of the over. No change being effected, Hornby, superceded Gaganan and started with a maiden, but Lowson made four and Blair a couple off his second over. Runs now came so rapidly that another bowling change had to be tried, Ross going on at his original end. Blair sent his second ball to leg for three, but in Hornby's next over the R.E. batsman was bowled, having scored 7, one 4, ten 3's, eleven 2's, etc.—in three over-handers. The exception of one of the chances already mentioned. Five for 181. Major Miles joined Lowson and after a couple of singles by the former, the Doctor drove Ross into the Pavilion for four. The run-getting now slackened a bit, but when Hornby gave up the ball to Fox, play became livelier, Lowson hitting vigorously while the Major played correct cricket. A splendid leg hit by the veteran of Ross, which pitched into the Murray Barracks compound, was loudly applauded, and a sharp cut for a couple in the same over, which brought up the 200, elicited fresh cheers. Latchford had now another try with the ball in place of Ross, but Lowson, after getting a hard crack on the hand, drove the last ball of his first over to the fence. Miles then had a life off Fox, sending the ball straight into Latchford's hands at square leg, and then each batsman sent this bowler to the fence. A separation was, however, effected in Fox's next over, Lowson sending one up to long-off, which Spinks easily caught, six for 220. Lowson's hard hit to included a two 4's, ten 3's and five 2's. F. Mainstay joined the Major, when the latter at once drove Fox clean over the top, but only three runs were allowed for some reason which we cannot understand. Ross again took the ball from Latchford, but the separation came from the other side, Fox taking the Major's wicket, the veteran having played an admirable innings for 23—one 4, four 3's, one 2, and a single. Seven for 228. Blair living was next man, but he failed to stop the first ball from Fox, and sent him to leg for 4, and in the following over the first ball he received for a couple, and in the following over drove Ross for two to mid-on and three to leg, both capital hits, and then sent Fox to the fence. A clinking ball from the last named proved too much for Mainstay, who had only contributed a single. Nine for 214. G.S. Coxon joined Smith and Latchford once more took the ball from Ross, but after a couple of overs resigned to Hornby, who was pretty roughly handled by both batsmen. Coxon and Smith each scored a snick for three in one over from Fox, and the latter drove him hard to the on but only scored a single, the ball being very near the wicket and returned. The brought on Ross at the eastern end. A splendid piece of fielding at this stage by Higginsbom at cover-point was cheered all round the ground. Smith drove Hornby to the on for two, but the next ball proved fatal, as he was well caught at the wicket by T. B. Ten for 274, of which Sercombe Smith 111 contributed 33 in dashing style—four 3's, four 2's and a single. Ram was last man and he cut the first ball he received from Hornby into the refreshment tent, and scored a two and a single in Ross' next over. Another change of bowling was tried, Leach relieving Hornby, and he sent down a good maiden over. To Ross' next over Coxon had made 12, and was capitally caught at cover point by Higginsbom, who had to run a considerable distance to reach the ball, and the innings was over for 280, Ram carrying out his bit for 6.

Fox carried off the bowling honors amongst the Straits cricketers, taking 6 wickets for 83 runs. Ross had 3 for 69, but it must be admitted that he had admirable luck, a number of chances off his bowling having been missed. Hornby, whose peculiar delivery reminds one of the well known professionals Lillywhite and Crossland, took two wickets at a cost of 32 runs. Smith was not out, and the same may be said of Latchford, Spinks, Birch and Gaganan. The fielding of the Straits team was, to say the least, dis-satisfactory. Blair was excellent at the wickets and did yeoman's service; Birch and Hornby at point were also smart, and one or two others distinguished themselves occasionally, but as a whole the fielding was far below first-class form.

Play will be resumed at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

readiness, and after two trial shots from each gun, the firing began in earnest at a range of 1300-1350 yards. Excellent shooting was again made, three targets being smashed, and seven actual hits made in all, out of 20 rounds. Though two of these hits do not count under land service rules, they were, from a naval point of view, capital shots. There was a total absence of any "wild" shooting, and the guns were rapidly and cheerfully worked, the officers and men being evidently on the best of terms. The tide was good, and came down full tide, with a breeze from the north which followed it. Surgeon-Major Cantile was present for some time after the firing and there was a good sprinkling of trained "First Aid" men. The rain interfered at first with the comfortable working of the guns, but cleared off about 11 a.m. The race, however, was very wet and slippery, and quick coast traversing was out of the question. The results will be published shortly, when the ten best scorers will be conclusions at the ginch gun—the officers not competing. The worthy captain smashed up the target by a direct hit after the firing, and came very evident all day that the present arrangement of the Battery in two divisions is most inconvenient and undesirable. The right half battery was some 18 strong, the left half battery about 11 or 12. A sergeant of the left was on range duty all the morning and a corporal and gunner of the left in the afternoon, whilst five of the remainder had never fired from big guns before. Hence a considerable reserve on one gun and a hard and continuously-working hand on the other.

ACCIDENT AT THE CHINESE THEATRE.

This afternoon on alarming rumour gained currency that one of the two Chinese theatres here had collapsed, and hundreds of lives been lost. On inquiry we ascertained that something of the sort really had occurred, but with by no means such shocking results. About three o'clock a performance was being given in the Tung Hing theatre, in a street off Hollywood Road, opposite the Chinese Recreation Ground, when the wooden roof over one side of the gallery was heard to crack. Immediately the hundred or two hundred persons seated below made for one corner, from whence they could jump on to the stage, but before they could all escape in that way the light rafters came down, and the roof after them, a distance of about twenty feet. The principal damage was, probably, done to the crush, but a score or so of Chinese were cut and bruised by the falling tiles. The fall only extended over a small area, and fortunately no fatalities resulted, or, at least, have yet been reported. Three men who were rather badly hurt, and a lot more who had received superficial injuries, were taken to the Tung-wa Hospital, on the other side of the street. The three first mentioned were sent to the Civil Hospital, but the rest were treated in native fashion, rubbed with vinegar, etc., and sent home. The wonder is that, in the panic which ensued on the fall, no further disaster did occur, and it is principally attributable to the width of the stairs and exits that that was the case. The fractured beams, on examination, showed that they had been eaten through by white ants, and that the whole building is dangerous.

FIRST DAY, MONDAY, 6TH JANUARY.

Our annual racing festival commenced this afternoon under the most favorable auspices. The weather was lovely, the attendance of spectators both in the Grand Stand and outside was quite up to the average—including a good sprinkling of the fair sex—the race-course was in every way first class. During the day a number of the high Chinese officials visited the Stand and were received with the usual courtesies by the Stewards. The first race on the card was the Amoy Cup, for which five competitors came to the starting post, and as half a mile was thought scarcely far enough for old Blue Ruin—last year's winner of this event, by the way—Forerunner was a decided favorite. As it proved, the "talent" were quite right in their opinion, as the chestnut, in Mr. Boyd's hands, after a few strides took the lead from Blue Ruin and, keeping in front all the way, landed easily by two lengths, with M. Picke—a black pony that ran unsuccessfully in Hongkong in Mr. Huxley's colours two years ago—an indifferent third. The time was 24 seconds.

Chanticleer was the great fancied amateur favorite for the Trial Stakes, and Mr. Hutchings had no difficulty in scoring a very easy victory from Mainbrace, the latter finishing just in front of Cobweb. Another field of five sported silk in the Chanticleer Cup, and a popular victory was recorded for Mr. Bruce's well-known "black and yellow" jacket. Mr. Marshall, who has greatly improved in his riding taking Cheng Li Ma to the front as soon as the flag fell, and winning in a canter from Fantan and Gamecock. Five competitors were still the order of the day, when the numbers went up for the third race, the Chanticleer Cup, but was never in the hunt. Entre Nous, however, although Silvery Dawn had probably more admirers. Lohengrin broke down after going half a mile, leaving Chanticleer in front, and it looked any odds on the winner of the Trial Stakes until fifty yards from the winning post, where he was well ahead, but then Cobweb came with a rush and, finishing with extraordinary gameness, got up on the post and secured the verdict by a short head. For the fifth time in succession the magic number of five represented the runners, the event being the Chanticleer Cup, and after Cheng Li Ma's previous success he was considered a "moral." So it proved, as the Foochow pony kept in front from start to finish, and won in a canter by two lengths. The Racing Stakes proved a match between Forerunner and Blue Ruin, the former having the call in the betting; but it was all the other way in the race, as the grey came right away after passing the half-mile post and won pulling double. The time for this race (3 min. 27 sec.), considering the winner was not pressed at the last, must be considered pretty good for the Amoy course. Four prizes came to the post for the Coast Cup, a fine finish between Cobweb and Mainbrace resulting in favor of the latter by a short head. The starting and other arrangements were perfect, and not a single hitch occurred to mar a day's capital sport. Brief details of the racing are appended—
